A Sad Accident Near Townville. We received by Wednesday morning's mail the following sad news from Town-mail the following sad news from Town-ville:

"Early last Saturday, the 20th instant, John B. Dorr met a most tragic fate by a tub of sediment falling from the mouth to the bottom of a well in which he was at work, a few miles from here, and striking his head crushed the skull, causing instant death. This sad end is all the more unfortunate in the fact that Mr. Dorr, himself young, left a young wife and several little children, who were dependent apon his earnings for a livelihood."

The following Act, passed by the Legislature at its last session, is republished by request. Persons owning land lying along water courses in this County should observe its provisions, or they may be put to considerable trouble. It reads as follows:

"Section I. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of South Carolina, now met and sitting in General Assembly, and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this Act all land owners of the Counties of Anderson and Beaufort shall remove from the running streams of water upon their land all trash, trees, rafts and timber during the months of March and September in each year.

"Sec. 2. Any person convicted of a viola-ber in each year.

"SEC. 2. Any person convicted of a violation of this Act shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, in the discretion of the Court before which the case may be tried.

"SEC. 3. Any person convicted of cutting down trees across or into running streams upon the lands of another, in the Counties aforesaid, shall be liable to the same punishment above prescribed."

A Fatal Accident.

A Fatal Accident.

A most distressing accident occurred at the residence of Mr. W. P. Wright, in Martin township, near the Abbeyille line, on honday evening last, which resulted in the death of Mr. William Fields and the painful if not serious injury of Mr. Wright. It seems that Mr. Wright had called together a number of his neighbors to assist him in raising a crib, which was to occupy the same ground of an old one recently torn away. On one side of the old building was a shed, which it was desired should remain, and become a part of the new building, and which had accordingly been propped up. As they were proceeding with the raising of the new crib, however, from some cause or other, the ched fell, striking both Mr. Fields and Mr. Wright, the former dying from the injuries received within an hour's time. The injuries sustained by Mr. Wright were not so serious, though at first it was feared he could not recover. He was better when we heard last, however, and it is thought now he will be able to be out in a few days. Mr. Fields was a valued citizen, a quiet and industrious farmer and a good neighbor, who enjoyed the confidence and esteen of all his acquaintances. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his untimely death.

The Excursion on Last Sunday.

The Excursion on Last Sunday.

The excursion over the Greenville & Columbia Railroad to Sandy Springs on last Sunday was the largest of the season. Trains were run from Columbia, Greenville, Abbeville and Walhalla at greatly reduced rates of fare, and every car was crowded. The train from Columbia left that place with forty-seven passengers, and at every station on the line received additions to its numbers. The train from Abbeville increased its load very considerably, and when it reached Belton the crowd from Greenville awaiting it swelled the number to thirteen hundred. The whole train consisted of thirteen coaches, and in order avoid further crowding and jaming at this place, it passed through without making any halt at all.

A second train came up a few minutes further crowding and jaming at this place, it passed through without making any hait at all.

A second train came up a few minutes after the first one passed, but as the only accommodations for passengers were three box cars, it was not at all crowded, and several of those who contemplated going, and had accordingly bought tickets, had their money refunded rather than put up with the sorry accommodations. The second train left this point with eighty passengers, most of whom were colored, and was called to the assistance of the first train, which staulded about Bird's Crossing. They arrived at the grounds in safety, however, about 12 o'clock, or shorfly after. We learn the train from Walhalla was also very much crowded, and that it brought down over seven hundred passengers. The day's work was certainly a big one for the Railroad, which realized at least twelve or fifteen hundred dollars.

The conduct of a large number of the passengers as they passed this place was anything but orderly. The shouting, hallooing and other unnecessary noises kept up on the train were distinctly heard several hundred yards from the Railroad. It seemed more like an excursion to a big frolic than to a religious meeting, and that every body on beard took it for granted that no one expected good behavior. The conduct of many of the young men after they arrived at Sandy Spring was not only disrespectful, but disgraceful in the extreme. While the order immediately about the stand and church was generally very good, out on the outskirts and about the Railroad it was extremely bad, and calls for the severest condemnation. It reflects great discredit on the morals and characters of a large number, who not only engaged in loud swearing and excessive drinking, but also in many other vices equally as degrading. It is a day that will long be remembered by a great many who were in attendance on the meeting, many scenes of which we hope will never again be enacted.

We understand that the authorities of the canny meeting were opposed to having th of Anderson they were in no wise connected with any of the bad behavior.

We understand that a colored man who was severely beaten by the rowdies at Sandy Springs on Sunday is in a very critical con-dition. It is thought by some that he will gagement, for the reason that he was de-tached upon recruiting service, and was awaiting a transfer to East India by arrange-ment with a brother officer. The exchange was never made, however, and when the Peninsular war closed, Bro. Dawson was retired upon half-pay, in consequence of the consolidation of his battalion with an-other. We obtained these facts in a recent conversation with the veteran soldier of the Cross, who is now in his 90th year,—Raptist

The Premium List.

The premium list of the Twelfth Annual Fair of the Anderson Farmers' and Mechanics' Association has been issued, and is now being distributed through the County. We hope every one who can will obtain a copy and ascertain for what premiums are offered, and then go to work, if they have not already done so, and prepare something for exhibition. As we have stated before, it is the only thing of public interest to which our people have to look forward this fall, and we know of no reason why it should not be in every respect a success. There is not an agricultural association in the State the reputation and record of which can compare with ours. Ever since its organization it has stood at the head of all the county associations in South Carolina, and we hope to see its success this fall more complete and the display more brilliant than it has ever been in the past.

The Fair will open to the public on Wednesday morning, 22d October, and continue for three days. The rules and regulations will be about the same as heretofore, while the gate fees remain the same. The premium offered for all articles in the field crop department is the American Furmer, one of the best agricultural journals in the South. For articles in the stock department the premiums range in value from $1$ to $5. In the poultry department one and two dollar premiums are given, and in the various household departments, the manufacturers', needle and fancy work and fine art departments premiums of the value of one doilar are offered. In the floral department they range in value from one to five dollars. The special premiums are given, and in the various household departments, the manufacturers', needle and fancy work and fine art departments premiums of the value of one doilar are offered. In the floral department they range in value from one to five dollars. The special premiums are valued at two and three dollars. Taken altogether the offers are all liberal and generous enough, and should insure a lively competition. The intrinsic Something New Under the Sun.—A new era is dawning upon the life of woman. Hitherto she has been called upon to auffer the ills of mankind and her own besides. The frequent and distressing irregularities peculiar to her sex have long been to her the "direful spring of woes unnumbered." In the mansion of the rich, and in the hovel of poverty alike, woman has been the constant, yet patient victim of a thousand ills unknown to man—and these without a remedy, "Oh Lord, how long!" in the agony of her soul hath she cried. But now the hour of her redemption is come. She will suffer no more, for Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator—Woman's Best Friend—may be relied on to cure all the diseases peculiar to women. Sandy Springs Camp Meeting.

The Camp Meeting at Sandy Springs on last Sunday was the nost largely attended of any held there since the war, having been estimated by good judges at from five to eight thousand persons. In the morning an able sermon was preached in the Church by Rev. S. B. Jones, D. D., but unfortunately the building was so small that very few of the vast crowd present were able to get standing room within. Rev. Mr. Russell also preached at the same hour to a very large audience at the arbor, and the behavior was very good about the preaching, though there were many persons who could not get seats or within a reasonable hearing distance of either of the ministers. Away from the immediate grounds, however, the good behavior was exchanged for very bad conduct, for which the parties engaged in it should be heartily ashained. We think it strange that people attending religious meetings on Bunday should so far forget the proprieties of life as to engage in such conduct as to render the occasion one of frolic or boisterous conduct to the annoyance of those who are seeking to make it one of moral pleasure and profit. Those who do not know how to behave themselves should stay away from such places, and if they are not disposed to do so of their own accord, public opinion should enforce their absence. We are glad to believe in this county.

The meeting to those who attended it stopping at the Waverly House.

The object of this visit is to give the afficted an opportunity for examination at or near their homes, thus saving hopeless cases the expense of a trip to Atlanta. A careful examination will be made, and patients can learn if their cases are curable or can be benefited, and whether it will be necessary for them to visit the Institute. In such cases as can be curd, or treatment begun at home, arrangements can be made with our visiting Surgeon, and treatment commenced at once. Examination free.

Cases of Deformities and Chronic Diseases will be examined—such as Club Feet, Diseases of the Hip, Spine and Joints, Paralysis, Piles, Fistula, Catarrh, Female and private diseases, diseases of the Eye, Ear, &c.

Come early, as the visit is limited to the time stated. For circulars and full particulars address this County.

The meeting to those who attended if from the beginning was very interesting and the results very satisfactory. It was earnest and impressive throughout.

The farmers say they never had better weather for gathering cotton. The wood market has opened at seventy-five cents for two-horse loads.

The drop down in cotton has caused a falling off in receipts for the last few days. Remember to pay your subscription when you sell your cotton. We need the money. The cold east wind on Sunday and Mon-day last made fire quite necessary for com-fort.

The Rev. R. H. Nall, of Greenville, will breach in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday at 11 p. m. The continued dry weather has made the streets and roads very dusty, and everybody is wishing for rain.

One gossipper, in twenty-four hour's time, can destroy all the peace and good feeling of a whole community.

Another big colored camp meeting next sunday. This time it is held at Hunnicut's crossing on the Blue Ridge Railroad.

The corporators of the Savannah Valley Railroad will hold an important meeting at this place on next Wednesday, October Ist. A typographical error in our last issue made Master Johnnie Cooper, the champion cotton picker of the Lowndesville neighbor-hood, 23 years old instead of 13.

Mr. C. D. Shuford has commenced work on a residence for Capt. J. J. Fretwell on the lot on Main street beyond the residence of Mr. S. Bleckley. It will be a cottage of four or five rooms.

Don't take your cotton elsewhere until you give the Anderson merchants a trial. They will pay as much for cotton as the merchants of any other place, and will also sell goods as cheap.

Messrs. J. P. Reed, Jr., and Columbus Wardlaw have gone to Virginia to continue their education. The former attends the Kenmore High School and the latter the University of Virginia.

We direct attention to the advertisements to be found in this issue of the New York Cash Store, Paris Store, Barr & Co., Ladies' Store, Reed & Herrick, Cunnigham & Co., Miss Della Keys and J. B. Clark & Son. The Abbeville County Fair will be held this year on 29th, 30th and 31st of October, just one week after the Anderson Fair. It will doubtless be a success, and we hope some of our citizens will find time to at-

The cotton receipts at this place for the week ending Tuesday night last aggregated 744 bales against 323 for the same time last year. This makes 1083 bales for Anderson this year, probably the largest amount ever sold here this early in the season.

We had intended this week to have given the business houses of Anderson an extended notice, but owing to the fact that Court has been in session all week, in which the editor has been constantly engaged, we have been compelled to postpone it until next week.

The Abbeville Press and Banner calls for a The Abbeville Press and Banner cails for a reduction from fifty to twenty-five cents in the gate fees of the Abbeville Fair, and says: "We want a big crowd and the only way to have a large attendance is to reduce the gate fees to a teasonable price. Let amilies come in at the rate of a dollar a dozen or twenty-five cents-for a single person." We reproduce the suggestion for the benefit of our Fair authorities.

The Circuit Court is still in session, and will likely consume the greater portion, if not all, of the week. The jury causes were finished on last Friday, and since that time his Honor, Judge Pressley, has been diligently disposing of the equity causes, some of which have been long and tedious. The Court has been one of the most pleasant that has ever been held in Anderson; and the har and our people are greatly pleased with the presiding Judge, who has increased the favorable impression he first made by the better acquaintance, which his administration of the law for the past ten days has given our people with him.

One of the abutments has been completed and another is under wey. The lower portion of the piers will be done during the dry weather in order that there will be no delay when the rains commence and the River rises in the Winter. The abutments and piers will be constructed of stone masonry, of the most substantial character. The bridge will be ready by the time the grading on the entire line between Greenwood and the River is finished. We therefore say to the amicted

Cross, who is now in his 90th year.—Baptist Courier.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for October is one of the most interesting yet issued of this brilliant periodical. Every style of literature is found in its pages, and it is of the very highest standard. The present number is even more crowded than usual with such re 'ling as cannot failt to entertain and instruct, and ... tereise a beneficial effect on the reader. The editor has reproduced, in connection with opposite illustrations, Macaulay's elaborated highgraphical and critical article on "The Filgrim's Progress," which is admitted by critics as the beat thing which has ever been written concerning Bunyan. Another admirable article is entitled "Becollections of Auld Reckie," in which the Rev. Bobert Irvine gives pleasant reminiscences of Chalmers, Jeffrey, Wilson and others who made Edinburgh famous some fifty varr. '90. Godfrey A. Hudson, in the paper 'An African Bishop,' gives a sketch of the career of a native African who was sold as a slave when a mere boy, captured from a clave ship and sent to Sierra Leone, where he was educated, received the degree of D. T., and finally became Bishop of Niger, in Africa. The department of fiction contains excellent stories by poular writers. The illustrated papers, depicting the manner s, customs and aspects of various countries, are relete with interest and information. "Whitting on Without His Cat," gives authentie and curious details of the life of the celebrated Mayer of London. There are poems of great merit by Alice Carey, Mamie Bacon, Edwin Arnold, the editor, etc., etc.; a very abundant miscellany, the Popular Exegesia, and the editor in "At Home and Abross" presents a condensed survey of what is going on in the religious world, and speaks of several topics of current interest. The number contains 123 quarto pages and over 100 illustrations. The price of a single number is 25 cents, and the subscription $3 a year, prepaid. I have no hesitation in pronouncing the sample made by it to be superior to that made by any Gin known to me. I have ginned as much as 350 bales of cotton—have had no repairing to do, and the Gin is now in perfect order. Its great improvement consists, in its Revolving Head. which prevents cotton roil from breaking, and which completely destroys the friction produced by cotton box, thereby increasing its speed, preventing injury to saws, and the sample from being gin-cut.
